CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Expressing the sense of Congress that the United States should resume normal diplomatic relations with Taiwan, negotiate a bilateral free trade agreement with Taiwan, and support Taiwans membership in international organizations.

Whereas the people of Taiwan have established a free, open, pluralistic, and democratic society;

Whereas the people of Taiwan have conducted successive democratic Presidential elections yielding several peaceful transfers of power, successive parliamentary elections, multiple nationwide referenda, and numerous local elections;

Whereas Taiwan and its outlying islands have never been under the jurisdiction or control of the Communist regime in Beijing, which continues to illegitimately claim sovereignty over Taiwan and its people;

Whereas Communist China has weaponized the so-called “One China Policy” to block Taiwan’s membership and full participation in international organizations and events ranging from the United Nations and the World Health Organization to the Olympic Games;

Whereas the so-called “One China Policy” is obsolete, does not serve the people of Taiwan or the United States, and fails to reflect the obvious reality that Taiwan has been a sovereign and independent country for over 70 years;

Whereas Taiwan maintains diplomatic, cultural, and economic links with several countries around the world, demonstrating its clear and indisputable independence from the People’s Republic of China;

Whereas Taiwan and the United States maintained normal diplomatic relations and a Mutual Defense Treaty until President Carter abruptly abandoned both without the approval of Congress in 1979;

Whereas Congress responded by adopting the landmark, bipartisan Taiwan Relations Act, codifying in law the basis for continued friendly relations between the people of the United States and Taiwan;

Whereas former President Reagan strengthened ties with Taiwan by issuing the “Six Assurances”, noting that “The United States has not altered its position regarding sovereignty over Taiwan”, underscoring that Communist Chinese claims of sovereignty over Taiwan have never been accepted by the United States;

Whereas former President Clinton declared “that the issues between Beijing and Taiwan must be resolved peacefully and with the assent of the people of Taiwan”;

Whereas President Trump approved the sale of defense articles to Taiwan and signed bipartisan legislation allowing for expanded high-level exchanges and cooperation between Taiwanese and American officials; and

Whereas Taiwan remains a steadfast ally of the United States and a responsible and conscientious member of the international community: Now, therefore, be it

1        Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate
2 concurring), That—

3            (1) the United States commends the people of
4        Taiwan for their commitment to democracy, civil lib-
5        erties, and human rights; and

6            (2) it is the sense of Congress that—

7            (A) the President should abandon the anti-
8        quated “One China Policy” in favor of a policy
9        that recognizes the objective reality that Tai-
10       wan is an independent country not governed by 11       or included within the territory of the People’s
12       Republic of China;

1           (B) the President should recognize the le-
2           gitimacy of the democratically elected National
3           Government in Taipei, normalize diplomatic re-
4           lations between our two nations, appoint a
5           United States ambassador to Taiwan, and re-
6           ceive a Taiwanese ambassador to the United
7           States;

8           (C) the President should rescind arbitrary
9           agency guidelines that restrict normal commu-
10          nication and interaction between United States
11          and Taiwanese officials;

12          (D) the United States Trade Representa-
13          tive should initiate formal negotiations with 14          Taiwan on the establishment of a United 15          States-Taiwan Free Trade Agreement; and

16          (E) the President, the Permanent Rep-
17          resentative of the United States to the United
18          Nations, and other relevant United States offi-
19          cials should take steps to advocate for Taiwan's
20          full membership in the United Nations and 21          other international organizations in which the 22          United States is a member.
