A BILL

To posthumously award the Congressional Gold Medal, collectively, to James J. Andrews and William H. Campbell in recognition of their extraordinary bravery and steadfast devotion to the Nation during the Civil War as the only civilian members of Andrews' Raiders, who launched a daring military raid that became known as the "Great Locomotive Chase".

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “James J. Andrews and 3 William H. Campbell Congressional Gold Medal Act”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 Congress finds the following:

6 (1) James J. Andrews was born in Holiday’s
7 Cove, Virginia (now Weirton, West Virginia), in 8 1829. He eventually moved to Kentucky. During the 9 Civil War, Andrews served as a civilian spy for the 10 Union Army and was the leader and organizer of 11 Andrews’ Raiders.

12 (2) William Hunter Campbell, born in Carroll
13 County, Ohio, on September 9, 1839, was a unique
14 addition to the raid. In 1862, he was visiting friends
15 with the 2d Ohio Infantry in Kentucky when he was 16 unexpectedly recruited for a daring mission.

17 (3) On March 25, 1862, James J. Andrews de-
18 veloped a plan to cut off the Western and Atlantic
19 Rail Line supply line from Marietta, Georgia, to 20 Chattanooga, Tennessee, to allow the Union Army to 21 attack and occupy the city. Andrews presented the 22 plan to General Buell and General O.M. Mitchell,
23 commanding the Union Army in North Alabama.
24 The plan was accepted, and Andrews gathered 22
25 Union soldiers from 3 Ohio Regiments (2d Ohio In-26 fantry, 21st Ohio Infantry, 33d Ohio Infantry). The

1 plan was to work from northern Alabama in small
2 groups, dressed in civilian clothes, and reach Mari-
3 etta, Georgia, to gather and steal a train. They were 4 to run the train toward Chattanooga, cut the tele-
5 graph lines, tear up railroad tracks, and, if possible,
6 burn the bridges. This would cut off all troop move-
7 ment and supplies from getting to Chattanooga. The 8 capture of Chattanooga early in the war would cut 9 off essential supplies and food from getting up to 10 Virginia and the Confederate Army there.

11 (4) On April 12, 1862, 24 volunteers from the 12 Union Army, led by civilian scout James J. An-13 drews, commandeered a Confederate locomotive
14 named the “General” outside of Big Shanty, Geor-
15 gia (now Kennesaw), and took it northward toward 16 Chattanooga, Tennessee, doing as much damage as 17 possible to the vital Western and Atlantic Railroad
18 line as they went. Out of fuel, Andrews and his men 19 abandoned the locomotive and scattered into the 20 woods before being captured by Confederate troops.

21 (5) All captured were put on trial and convicted
22 for acts of “unlawful belligerency” or being unlawful 23 combatants and spies. Shortly after that, Andrews
24 and 7 of the Raiders were executed by hanging, with 25 the remaining held as prisoners-of-war. Andrews’

1 body was taken down from the scaffold and buried.
2 On October 16, 1887, his remains were recovered
3 and taken to their final resting place at Chattanooga
4 National Cemetery.

5 (6) William H. Campbell was hung with 6 of 6 the military men on June 18, 1862. In April 1866,
7 these men were relocated and interred in Chat-
8 tanooga National Cemetery.

9 (7) On March 25, 1863, 6 members of An-
10 drews' Raiders were awarded the first Medals of 11 Honor in our Nation's history. Ultimately, 21 of the 12 24 members of Andrews' Raiders would receive the 13 Medal of Honor for their actions on that day. On 14 July 3rd, 2024, President Biden awarded the most 15 recent Medals of Honor to members of Andrews'
16 Raiders, stating "Their heroic deeds went 17 unacknowledged for over a century, but time did not 18 erase their valor".

19 (8) Chattanooga, Tennessee, is recognized as 20 the birthplace of the Medal of Honor.

21 (9) In 1956, Walt Disney made a movie about
22 Andrews' Raiders' exploits called "The Great Loco-
23 motive Chase", starring Fess Parker as Andrews.
24 Buster Keaton's 1927 feature-length comedy mas-

1 terpiece “The General” was loosely based on the in-
2 cident.

3 (10) Today, the hijacked locomotive, “General”,
4 is on display at The Southern Museum in Kennesaw,
5 Georgia. “Texas”, the locomotive used to give chase,
6 is on display at the Atlanta History Center in At-7 lanta, Georgia.

8 (11) The civilians of the Andrews’ Raiders,
9 James J. Andrews and William Hunter Campbell,
10 acted with extraordinary bravery and unwavering de-
11 votion to their Nation as they attempted to turn the 12 tide of the Civil War.
